

Have you participated in HPAC in a previous cycle?

No

Yes

It was during the 2019-2020
academic year

It was during the 2018-2019
academic year
or earlier

You are a first-time HPAC applicant. You will interview with the Assistant Dean of Health Professions or the Senior Academic Counselor and a faculty advisor and receive an HPAC letter when you apply to health professional school.

You interviewed with the Assistant Dean of Health Professions or Senior Counselor and faculty advisor but you did not end up going through the health professional school application process and an HPAC letter was not written or uploaded to health professional school application services

An HPAC letter was written and uploaded to health professional school application services

You are a secondary HPAC applicant. You can receive an HPAC letter – we will reach out to you in April 2021 with further instructions. We require an updated questionnaire, but in the meantime, we recommend you begin reaching out to your individual letter writers to request that they update your letters or obtain new letter(s).

You are an HPAC re-applicant. You can receive an updated HPAC letter – we will reach out to you in April 2021 with further instructions. We require an updated questionnaire, but in the meantime, we recommend you begin reaching out to your individual letter writers to request that they update your letters or obtain new letter(s).

You are an HPAC re-applicant. You can receive an updated HPAC letter but we recommend you re-interview with the Assistant Dean of Health Professions or Senior Counselor and faculty advisor so we can include new information in your updated HPAC letter. You will need to apply to HPAC, submit an updated questionnaire and authorization forms/waivers by the February 15, 2021 deadline. We also recommend you begin reaching out to your individual letter writers to request that they update your letters or obtain new letter(s).

In order to participate in HPAC you must meet all eligibility criteria (<https://cos.unt.edu/advising/health-professions/health-professions-advisory-committee>)
If you have questions about your eligibility or the process, please email HealthCareers@unt.edu